
TENDER HEARTS

While volunteering at Tender Hearts, I helped conduct skill-building classes for children with special needs. These classes focused on enhancing their creativity, communication and cognitive abilities. I worked closely with This was the start of an experience and journey

Over 8 children individually, ensuring that the learning environment was engaging and supportive. It was inspiring to see each child grow more confident as they developed new skills and embraced challenges.

One particular experience that stands out was my successful effort to raise funds for a child who was unable to afford the classes. I took the initiative to approach various companies with a well-researched presentation, highlighting the transformative impact Tender Hearts could have. After several pitches, I managed to raise AED20,000, which covered the child's tuition and allowed them to continue benefiting from the program.
